

Future Link is a new free initiative launched by your Chamber of Commerce with support from Future NB, provincial business organizations and the province's four publicly funded universities.

How it works

1. Complete the sign-up form indicating a summary of the challenges and the project or initiative you need help to accomplish.
2. Your request will be evaluated. If selected, a team of business support interns will spend up to two weeks researching the issue, present ideas, and solutions for your business.
3. The first cycle of the program will start in May 2021.

The business support intern team is comprised of two university students

1. The intern team will plan an initial meeting with your business to talk about the challenges you are facing, the project you want to work on and determine an action plan.
2. The team will plan their work with the information submitted. They will present ideas, recommendations, and solutions, while keeping you updated with a progress report. During the process, you will be able to provide feedback.
3. The team will present their finished proposal during a final meeting.

What is provided

1. Services of two business support interns (seven hours of work per day for up to two weeks, as determined during the initial meeting).
2. New ideas, enthusiasm, and expertise.
3. Supervision of the interns by your Chamber and a provincial Future Link Program Coordinator.
4. Laptops and other office materials required.
